

ATTENDEE GUIDELINES ON SOLICITATION ACTIVITIES

BACKGROUND ON PROHIBITIONS

1. Under the Thailand Emergency Decree on Digital Assets Business B.E. 2561 (2018), certain solicitation, marketing, and/or promotional activities relating to digital assets are prohibited in Thailand.
2. Devcon, being a purely educational conference, already has a longstanding prohibition against any form of solicitation, sales, marketing, promotions, and offers to sell, including (but not limited to) announcements of ICOs, crowdsales, or other similar promotional pitches, 'suitcasing', and outboarding. See Clause 5 of the Devcon 7 SEA Ticket Sale Terms and Conditions.
3. These Attendee Guidelines set out the prohibitions in more detail. They apply to all attendees of Devcon 7 SEA and Ethereum SEA Day. By attending Devcon 7 SEA and/or Ethereum SEA Day, you agree to comply with these guidelines.

GUIDELINES

4. No Promotion of Regulated Products or Services. Attendees must not promote or provide any information relating to:
 - (a) The offering or selling of financial products such as digital assets (cryptocurrencies, investment tokens, utility tokens), securities, derivatives, payment, currency, and any other Thai-regulated products ("Regulated Products"); and
 - (b) The provision of exchange, broker, dealer, advisor, fund manager, or custodian services, or any other Thai-regulated services related to the Regulated Products ("Regulated Services").
5. No Distribution of Materials Related to Regulated Products or Services. Attendees must not distribute any materials (including QR codes or links) that enable others to invest, trade, or use Regulated Products or Regulated Services.

6. Avoid Sensitive Discussions. Attendees should avoid discussions with any individuals offering or promoting Regulated Products or Regulated Services. Do not share sensitive financial details, private keys, or passwords with anyone. The event organisers will never request such information or assist in opening a trading account during the event.

7. Comply with Lèse-Majesté Laws. It is illegal for Attendees to defame, insult, or threaten the monarchy of Thailand. Any reference to the monarchy of Thailand is prohibited.

8. Activities & Communications. These prohibitions apply to all forms of activities and communications related to the event, including:

- (a) Speeches, presentations, and interviews;
- (b) Conversations and other oral communications;
- (c) Advertising and marketing; and
- (d) Any information or material distributed to the public or widely shared during the event.

9. Acknowledge Event Restrictions. By attending the event, attendees acknowledge that the event is not intended for the direct or indirect promotion of unauthorised financial products or services by Impact Booths or Speakers. Any such activity is prohibited.

CONSEQUENCES OF NON-COMPLIANCE

10. Civil & Criminal Liability. Failure to comply with these Attendee Guidelines may result in civil and/or criminal liability under the laws of Thailand. We reserve the right to deny admission or expel any attendee who fails to comply with these guidelines.

11. Monitoring by Regulators. The event may be subject to monitoring by regulators such as the Office of the Securities and Exchange Commission of Thailand. Regulators actively enforce actions against unlicensed business operators that promote or solicit Regulated Products or Regulated Services to Thai investors.

QUESTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

12. If you have any questions about these Attendee Guidelines, please contact us at support@devcon.org.